Reference is made to your memorandum of 8 September concerning assistance for the completion of a manuscript of a            English dictionary.

25X1

While the project appears worthy of assistance, other than actual cash support, I would suggest that it be ascertained whether upon completion of the manuscript there is a likelihood that it will be accepted for publication by a commercial firm. Unless the printed dictionary is actually going to see the light of day, it is doubtful, in my opinion, whether we should give the support in question.
